SELF-DEFENSE CLAIM MADE BY SLAYER

Little Baby, Dead at Birth, Figures in Tragedy
Which Has Shocked
Gwinnett County.

By PAUL STEVENSON.
(Special Staff Correspondent.)
Norcross, Ga., May 25.—(Special.) As the result of wrongs he believed had been inflicted on his sister, Lucie Reeves, a 17-year-old girl, Guss Reeves, a painter who lives in Sims-ville, near Atlanta, shot and killed Lee Clark, his brother-in-law, on Clark's farm near Norcross at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Clark was the husband of Sylvia Reeves, an older sister of Lucie Reeves, and of Guss Reeves. Reeves surrendered to Deputy Sheriff J. M. Bennett after the killing, and after being brought to Atlanta to see his wife by the deputy, was taken to the Gwinnett county jail, where he is held on a murder charge.

With the shrouded body of her husband on a rude bier before her, with her brother held in the Gwinnett county jail as his slayer and with her 17-year-old sister lying on a pallet just within the next room, Mrs. Clark calmly told the story here tonight of the four bullets fired Wednesday afternoon which brought about a tragedy which has shocked the entire west end of the county.

Mrs. Clark charged unequivocally that her husband had been shot down without warning by her brother Guss, who heard that Clark had wronged his sister, and was the father of a child born two months ago, dead at birth, and which was buried on the farm of the Clarks, 3 miles east of Norcross.

ATTACKS SPIRIT OF SELFISHNESS

Sellers of Goods, Labor and People Generally
Must Change Attitude,
Says Atwood.

In an inspirational speech to the young men of the junior chamber of commerce Wednesday night, John H. Atwood, nationally renowned attorney of Kansas City, Mo., took occasion to rap the spirit in the United States which refuses co-operation between the general public and the seller of goods, and keeps them at war.

Mr. Atwood said he was not entirely familiar with the situation in Atlanta, but that from his experience in every other section of the country he knew that retailers and wholesalers were operating on a basis of selfishness. Labor, he said, and other classes of American citizenry, are thinking so much about themselves that they do not think of the ultimate result.

For Own Interests.
He cited instances encountered in his work as a special representative of Attorney A. Mitchell Palmer in a fight to reduce the cost of living, and said that merchants of every description were organized, not for the public weal, but to advance their own interests.

The opening words of Mr. Atwood, after he had been introduced to the gathering by John L. Westmoreland, president of the junior chamber, were devoted to an outline of the responsibilities and opportunities of America's young men. Mr. Atwood was the chief speaker of the exercises in honor of Henry W. Grady Tuesday and pointed out Grady as an example of accomplishment by a comparatively young man.

Washington, May 25.—When the government's ledger is balanced at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, it will show that more than five and a half billion dollars have been paid out in twelve months to operate the government and retire its obligations, according to reliable estimates obtained at the treasury department.

This figure is without reference to appropriations by congress, which do not furnish an accurate index of what the government spends. It represents actual dollars that will have been paid out of the vaults of the treasury.

U. S. PRISON WARDEN

J. E. DYCHE.

Dyche Promises Fair Treatment To All Convicts

Hamon's Ghost Said to Be Responsible for Warden's Appointment.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 25.—(Special.)—That he will not attempt to deal with convicts according to any set formula and will favor those who show they are capable of "reasoning and behaving themselves" is the promise of J. E. ("Ed.") Dyche, of Oklahoma City, who will become warden of the federal prison at Atlanta July 1, to the men confined there.

"I don't believe there can be any formula for dealing with a man. Individuals are different, and treatment must be adjusted to the individual case," Dyche said. "Petty thieves, burglars and minor criminals of all kinds usually are taken care of by state laws, leaving a different class for the federal penitentiaries."

"The man who shows me he is capable of reasoning and behaving himself will have an infinitely better chance of making his way in the world than the man whom it is necessary to keep in solitary confinement."

Solitary Confinement.
"The worst punishment that can be meted out to a federal prisoner now is solitary confinement, and I think that is strong enough."

"There will be plenty of time for me to formulate a way of putting into practice these theories I have formed on the handling of prisoners. So far I have no set policy for managing the prison."

Dyche's career for thirty years has been strangely intertwined with that of the late Jake L. Hamon, who, after gaining riches in oil and railway building, became republican national committeeman from Oklahoma last year and then met death at the hands of Clara Smith, who was tried and acquitted at Ardmore in March, Thirty years ago Dyche and Hamon

APPLICATIONS DOUBLE FUNDS NOW AVAILABLE

Hearings on Measures
Proposing Increase in Government Loan Money
Begin Friday.

By J. A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau.
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, May 25.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Delegations in congress from Georgia and North and South Carolina appeared before the federal farm loan board today for a revised allocation of appraisers in the southeast, the appointment of additional appraisers for Georgia and a general expedition in granting loans recently applied for through the regional land bank at Columbia. Addresses were made by Representatives Brand, Crisp, Larsen, Bell and Vinson, of Georgia, and several of the members from the Carolinas.

At the meeting it developed that $37,000,000 worth of the recent $40,000,000 issue of farm loan bonds have been sold to date, and that while the southeast will get approximately $2,500,000 of that fund for loan purposes, the applications already in excess that amount by more than double, while new local associations are being formed throughout the district almost daily.

In this connection, however, the senate committee on banking and currency has just reported favorably the bill to amend the farm loan act by a provision creating a permanent revolving fund of $50,000,000 for loan purposes to be re-established as needed by bond flotations, and the fund to again revolve in credit extensions, etc.

Hearings Open Friday.
Bills similar to these have been introduced in the house by Representatives Brand and Nelson, and hearings in these bills by the house committee on banking and currency will begin Friday.

There is not the slightest doubt that the committee will render a favorable report, either accepting the senate bill or reporting one of the two introduced by its own members.

It is absolutely assured that congress will pass this legislation as Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has given the provision of the bills not only his heartiest endorsement, but urged the legislation as absolutely essential to proper functioning on the part of the regional land banks.

Sufficient money will, therefore, be shortly available, and in view of this fact the federal board promised the southeastern representatives today to speed up the appraisal.

By Vote of 74 to 0, Borah's
Proposal to Call Interna-

MANY AMENDMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED

Actual Vote on Naval Appropriation Bill Blocked by Lengthy Debate on Wednesday.

Washington, May 25.—Unanimous senate approval was given to Senator Borah's proposal for an international naval disarmament conference.

By a vote of 74 to 0, the Idaho senator's amendment was added to the naval appropriation bill authorizing and requesting the president to invite the governments of Great Britain and Japan to send representatives to a conference with representatives of the United States in an effort to reach some agreement on disarmament.

The vote was in conformity with the understanding reached last week by administration forces to give their support to Senator Borah's plan. Besides the 46 republicans and 28 democrats voting for the amendment, announcements were made on behalf of the many absentees that they too favored the disarmament plan.

Upon passage of the bill, the amendment will go to conference with the house, but its advocates believe it will be indorsed and then approved by President Harding.

Vote Is Delayed.
With the Borah amendment incorporated, an effort was made to reach a vote on passage of the bill late Wednesday, but this was frustrated by debate arising on minor amendments. Senators La Follette, republican, of Wisconsin, and King, democrat, of Utah, also had several amendments proposed. The latter promised to introduce several to abolish what he termed "useless" navy yards and depots.

Senator La Follette made another lengthy address in opposition to capital ship construction and considerable more debate was in prospect when adjournment was taken Wednesday night.

With Thursday set aside by special order for consideration of the contested nomination of David H. Blair, to be internal revenue commissioner, im-

WOMAN JUROR IS GIVEN FINE AND JAIL TERM

Cleveland, May 25.—Mrs. Ellen Griffith, tentatively seated as a juror in the perjury trial of former Judge William H. McGannon was banished from the jury, fined $50 and costs and sentenced to ten days in jail by Common Pleas Judge Florence E. Allen, late today on a charge of contempt of court.

Negroes Living On Fat of Land And Getting Paid

Witnesses in "Murder Farm"
Cases Facing Sudden Riches.

Singing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," at intervals, partaking regularly of goodly portions of side meat, corn pone and other cotton field delicacies and enjoying a long, sweet rest, free from the arduous duties of "working in the new ground," while the government of the United States of America pays them $1 a day each and "found" is the plight of ten negroes from the famous "murder farm" of John Williams, of Jasper county, who are held in the Fulton Tower as witnesses.

It was learned in the office of Vincent Hughes, head of the southeastern office of the department of justice, Wednesday that plans for the release of the negroes at an early date are now being worked out.

All of the witnesses have been in jail more than two months, and when released will have more ready cash than they have ever possessed before, according to their testimony.

During the Williams trial at Covington, it was testified by some of the negroes that the largest amount of money they ever possessed at one time while working on the Williams farm was 50 cents.

Clyde Manning, star witness against Williams, the negro farm boss, is not a participant in the "dividends" as he is being held on murder charges made in state courts.

The negro witnesses are Rena Manning, wife of Clyde Manning; Clyde Freeman, Claude Freeman, Rufus Manning, Emma Freeman, Julius Manning, Willie Johnson and wife, Fred Favors and Lula M. Benton. They are all held as witnesses in peonage charges brought in federal courts against John Williams and his three sons, Marvin, Leroy and Hulon Williams.

John Williams, under a life sentence following his conviction on a first murder charge, occupies a cell a short distance from the negro witnesses, but draws no "per diem."

Two "Liquor Runners" Guide Deputy Sheriff to His Hiding Place in Dawson County.

FIRST STORY DENIED BY WOMAN IN CASE

Eula Putnam Claims That Thompson Interfered to Save Her From Brown's Advances.

A pistol battle at a still in the lonely fastnesses of Dawson county mountains, a complete breakdown of the tragedy by the woman member of the "eternal triangle," all figured in the capture Wednesday of Homer Thompson, charged with killing Ernest Brown near Wesley chapel March 16.

Ragged, a month's growth of beard on his face, and in an intoxicated condition, according to officers, Thompson, fugitive from justice for more than seven weeks, was brought to the DeKalb county jail late in the afternoon only after he had made a desperate fight and had been shot in both legs by Deputy Sheriff L. S. Henderson.

Later, as he was being moved to a larger cell, his stretcher passed the cell of Eula Putnam, the woman who was living with him as his wife and who was with Brown on the night the fatal shots were fired.

Stretches Arms Through Rods.

A sob of pain came from the stretcher. Tears welled into the eyes of the woman, peering from behind the bars. She arose and thrust her arms through the iron rods toward the man, but the men passed on with their burden.

"Will they hang him, do you think?" she asked of a reporter following the stretcher.

"Well, if they do after I've told my story to the jury, I'll be satisfied there's no justice in law," she asserted after a pause.

Information concerning the whereabouts of Thompson was received Monday by Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, of DeKalb. He held a conference with Deputy Henderson and two men known as whiskey "runners," Tuesday morning the deputy and the two runners started on their search.

They arrived in Dawsonville late in the afternoon, and went immediately to the home of a distiller about fifteen miles away. The owner, whose name officials did not reveal, invited the men to have supper with him. They stayed their mission as that of securing whiskey and exhibited thirty one-gallon empty cans. The trade was completed.

Thompson Comes To Eat Supper.

While the men were at the cabin, Thompson came and ate his supper. Henderson saw him out in the darkness and watched him as he approached a window, where his supper was given him. The fugitive never entered the house, said Henderson, but remained outside.

"You see, you catch him then," he was asked.

play a week if necessary to land my man. I was to make no wrong move. The time wasn't ripe, for we never could have got away with him even if we had caught him after running from the house," he replied.

The owner of the cabin didn't insist on us spending the night with him, so we went on up the road about two miles. I didn't sleep any during the night. We got up early and around 9 o'clock approached the location of the still, which had been given us," the deputy continued.

"Throw Up Your Hands!"

"It was hidden in a little ravine, Thompson saw us, and I yelled: 'Throw up your hands.' He smiled and did so, but he thought we were joking. He had been told of our supposed mission the night before. When I told one of the men to keep him covered while I placed handcuffs on him, he saw I wasn't kidding. I had the bracelets out and was fixing to put them on when he started fighting, jerked away from me and ran. Instead of running toward an opening, he circled toward some guns on the other side of the branch.

"It was then that I shot. We carried him to Gainesville, where wounds in both legs were given attention and then came on to Decatur. He did not discuss the killing at all, only to ask where Peterson's hired man was," said the deputy.

Thompson, when seen at the jail by a reporter, and asked about the killing of Brown, said:

"Come back to see me when I'm sober." Then he returned to his cell.

Officials stated he was half-conscious from the blows he received. "I'll tell you," called the Putnam woman from her cell. "I wish had told you all about it in the very beginning."

Woman Now Willing to Talk.

Tears were streaming down her face. Her red hair fell about her shoulders. She talked for short jerky sentences, often interrupted by sobs until, finally, she became so hysterical that she refused to continue her statement.

"That statement about me saying Jake (Thompson) killed Brown without cause is all a lie. I didn't say it. If any man ever had cause, Jake did, because Brown was trying to attack me," she said.

"And I didn't send those little negro girls to go just that far. So I went to the negro house, gave the woman turnips and started back. Just outside the house Brown grabbed me. I didn't know whether he was a negro or a white man, and he scared me and I was afraid he would kill me. But he wouldn't.

Said He Wanted Kiss.

"Mrs. Thompson, you've got to kiss me," the prisoner said.

"I told him I wouldn't, and asked him to turn me loose again. He tried to get me to go with him and go into the woods.

"I refused, and stumbling and almost falling, I dragged him into the middle of the road. I saw someone coming down the road.

"I guess you'll turn me loose now," he said, and walked toward Thompson. When he was about ten feet from him, Jake fired. Brown fell. Jake turned and walked away with me following and crying after him."

The story told The Constitution Wednesday night by Ella Putnam at variance with the one she told the sheriff of DeKalb county shortly after the killing.

At that time she told Sheriff McCurdy, according to a statement given by him that Thompson killed Brown without provocation.

"I had sent for Brown to meet me. We were together on the road and he tried to kiss me. I objected and he grabbed my hand and about this time I saw someone coming down the road. I told Brown to 'look out,' but he would not stop. He said, according to Sheriff McCurdy, 'I asserted that Homer Thompson was the person coming down the road, and declared that Thompson walked up to Brown and shot him down without uttering a word. She said Thompson returned to his house a short distance away after the killing and that she followed him."

"I begged him not to leave me," she said. "He gave no reply, but told me to hold tight, and get into his automobile. We drove a short distance and he put me out of the car."

The woman told officers she went to the home of her father, James Barrow, route No. 1, Norcross, after the killing.

The prisoner was asked why she made this statement.

"I was so afraid, I would have said anything that night. He had threatened to kill me and I didn't know what to say. The two men who arrested me, they said the father's home were not even deputized and the things they said to me were terrible."

Here her statement became disconnected. One time she said she made any such statement as the sheriff attributed to her. At the coroner's inquest evidence was given to the effect that the Putnam woman sent the two negroes for Brown. She is being held at the jail as material witness.

A reward of $700 will be paid for the capture of Thompson. She will be divided between several parties who gave him information leading to the killing. Five hundred dollars was offered by the state for the fugitive's capture and $200 for the brother of the slain man. Thompson is under indictment for murder.

make the trip. She said the car passed several times before her house and a short time later Reeves came up on the front porch, where she and her husband were sitting, accompanied by the three witnesses.

Lucile Reeves was standing near the rear of the house, according to Mrs. Clark's story and Reeves walked back and endeavored to persuade her to come to the front porch and tell her story before the men he had brought as witnesses.

The girl began crying and refused to accompany him and then Reeves grasped her by the arm and tried to force her to do as he asked, according to Mrs. Clark.

Sister Was Crying.

"My sister cried again when my brother grabbed her by the arm and my husband told him to let her alone. He did not quit and my husband told him again to release the girl. When he refused my husband jumped up and leaping from the end of the porch ran back towards the rear of the house where they were struggling. I followed him and almost as quick as you can snap your finger my brother drew four times directly at my husband who held up his hands above his head when he first saw the men."

Mrs. Clark said her husband was not armed and neighbors who examined the body after the killing said a small pocket knife was the only weapon they found.

Clark told his story to Deputy Sheriff Bennett, while the deputy was bringing him to Atlanta to see his wife, who lives at Simeville on the River car line, near the Exposition mills, where Reeves was employed as a painter.

Heard Tuesday Night.

"Reeves told me that he had never heard of the wrongs to his sister until Tuesday night. He said he came to Norcross Wednesday morning with the intention of getting a birth certificate from Dr. C. M. McDaniel, of Lilburn. He said he obtained this certificate and showed it to me. He said he had obtained the three neighbors of Clark as witnesses and went to the Clark home to get a statement from his sister as to whether or not Clark was responsible for her wrongs."

"He said he intended to bring prosecution in an orderly way if he found Clark was responsible. He said when he tried to get his sister to walk around to the front of the Clark house and tell her story that Clark objected and struck him a blow."

"He told me after the blow was struck Clark made a motion to draw a weapon and he shot him in self-defense. Reeves said he brought the pistol with him because he knew Clark always was armed."

Deputy Bennett said Reeves' story was that he shot three times and Terrill Bolton, who drove Reeves to the plantation told The Constitution he had heard only three shots.

Another Man Involved.

Mrs. Clark denied that her husband was responsible for the condition of her sister and said he had reared her since she was 7 years old. She charged that a man in Dunwoody, in DeKalb county, was responsible. She said her sister visited Dunwoody three days last week and she asked Deputy Bennett to draw up a warrant for his arrest and she would furnish his name Thursday morning.

The body of the baby born dead was buried on the Clark farm near the house and, according to people who live in the neighborhood, no person knew anything about the birth of burial until the killing Wednesday.

Mrs. Clark owned the farm on which she and her husband and her sister lived. The farm was purchased with money obtained from a railroad as damages for the death of Jess Reeves, father of the two Reeves girls, who was killed when struck by a railroad train ten years ago.

Mrs. Clark is a sister of W. J. Reeves, 17 Hansell street, and J. L. Reeves, Central place, Atlanta, and Gus Reeves. Mrs. Clark has one child, a 7-year-old son. Gus Reeves had with him and two boys, Jack Reeves, 1 year old, and De Witt Reeves, 3 years old. Clark and Reeves were both about 30 years old. Mrs. Clark is slightly younger.

Funeral services of Clark will be held Thursday afternoon and burial will be in M'Thursday church cemetery.

POPULARITY CROWN GOES TO MISS STEARNS

and Byrd, don't try to gauge the activity by your knowledge of penny ante.

To newspaper reporter, it sounded like Croesus matching John D. for his roll. "Greek George" spent $150 like the Folies has done. American he is, 1,500 votes at 10 cents a throw. Before the thing ended, with the evenings that had gone before, the popularity contest alone had netted some $2,500. And the ticket sale and the advertising still to come!

Nobody has yet made an estimate on what the activity of the Junior Folies has done for the cause. Being conservative people, yet enthusiastic, they are afraid to guess, and want to be sure before they speak in figures. Tremendous houses each night and the Wednesday matinee assures the box-office receipts, the advertising was remunerative, and the whole everybody's happy as a jazz drummer in a boiler factory.

Not only was, or were the Folies a financial success, but they were, or was, a tremendous success. No such gathering of beauty has ever before been placed on that stage to beguile the heart and entreat the eye. No bunch of people have had so much enjoyment as the gangs who have flocked to see, to see Dinah McDonald, the efficient director, and the scores of young Atlantans who worked like the mischief to fix things so they would please, deserve every ounce of praise that a generous Atlanta can give them.

If there weren't so many firsts of the month, you would find here inscribed a wish that the year could roll around much more quickly, so that the Folies of 1922 could come right away—and that sentiment would be echoed in the hearts of a big bunch of folks. Forrest Adair, as he left the chamber of commerce to go to the Folies Wednesday night, said, "I'm going to the Folies—you know, I'm for that bunch!"

Mr. Adair spoke for Atlanta.

SPECTACULAR PARADE GIVEN BY ODD FELLOWS

Athens, Ga., May 25.—(Special).—With a spectacular parade of over 2,000 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs headed by the Pilgrim Knights of Oriental Splendor, Pharaoh palace, of Atlanta, Miera palace, of Macon, and Cairo palace, of Columbus, led by the P. K. O. S. band of Macon, the program here this morning for the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Georgia.

Thousands of visitors and citizens thronged the streets through which the Odd Fellows moved and the city is entertaining the visitors in royal style.

Grand lodge officers were elected today as follows: John S. Wilder, of Savannah, grand master; James A. Perry, Lawrenceville, deputy grand master; A. D. Deas, Augusta, grand warden; A. H. Robertson, Gainesville, grand secretary; J. E. Hodenheimer, grand treasurer; Decatur, grand representatives, R. L. J. Smith, Commerce, and B. B. McCowan, Atlanta.

A spirited fight was made on the floor of the convention for the meeting place next year. American and Macon were the contestants. Macon won by a vote of 198 to 176.

The following officers of the Rebekahs assembly for the ensuing year were elected this afternoon: Mrs. Gussie Trippe, of Atlanta, president; Mrs. S. H. Edge, Americus, vice president; Mrs. Effie Wilson, Atlanta, warden; Mrs. M. C. Strickland, Atlanta, secretary; Mrs. Ivy Henderson, Savannah, treasurer; Mrs. Nan singletary, Thomasville, representative.

Dear Sirs—I have been for some time desiring to let you know how well pleased I am with the Hanson Six I bought from you.

I have now run the car 3428 miles, and have not even had to remove a spark plug. Yesterday I went to Valley Forge and on one of the long hills over there I passed at least six different cars that were compelled to take the same in second gear. I consider this as very good proof that even after running 3400 miles it would not be necessary to remove carbon.

I should also like to say that the riding quality and freedom from noise of any description cannot be surpassed.

is away up!

—but not here

The wheat market has been cutting capers for two weeks—with a corresponding advance in flour costs, which has reached $2.22 a barrel. We have held our advance down to 40c a barrel, because of our foresight in buying.

Peachtree—Walton—BroadFINANCIAL PLANS OF PRESBYTERIANS

St. Louis, May 25.—Plans entailing an expenditure of approximately $20,000,000 for the period of 1922-25 were indorsed at the 61st general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church here today.

The program provides for an equipment fund of $5,000,000, of which foreign missions will receive $2,500,000, home mission $500,000, the assembly training school $500,000, Christian education and ministerial relief $300,000 and the Montreal assembly $20,000, if the title to the property can be vested in the general assembly.

The apportionment for other church activities will be distributed as follows: 1922, $4,500,000; 1923, $4,750,000; 1924, $4,750,000; and in 1925, $5,000,000.

Synodical Campaign.
It is estimated the synodical campaign already under way will probably add $2,500,000 to the budget. To avoid conflict with other campaigns it was decided to defer raising the equipment fund until April 1, next.

Commissioners said the budget would entail, per capita contributions from the church membership larger than those of any other denomination.

The assembly adopted a resolution relieving the stewardship committee from any further responsibility for financial support of the pilgrims church in Washington, D. C., voted last year on account of other financial projects to be handled. A committee, however, was appointed to advise the church on its building plans. The assembly also selected a new stewardship committee.

Work of Churches.
For the work of the churches in the next year, the assembly recommended a 25 per cent increase in membership, a Sunday school enrollment as large as the church membership and family altars in every home.

The home missions report, presented today, showed all records for receipts had been broken during the past year with $466,836 besides a special gift of real estate valued at $10,000.

The assembly plans to adjourn late tomorrow.

ing as rapidly as practicable so that farmers may get the benefit of the loans sought at this time when their emergency demands are most urgent.

Two More Appraisers.
Georgia has had five appraisers, and as a result of the hearing Wednesday, two additional appraisers were added to the staff in that state. R. C. Robson, of Milledgeville, and E. M. Williams, of Macon, being appointed.

The hearing was a most satisfactory one and southern members of congress are alert to the demands in their respective sections, and aiding in the expedition in every way practicable.

The letter of Secretary Mellon, made public for the first time today by the favorable report, was the senate committee on the Curtis revolving fund bill is intensely interesting as an indication of the administration's policy in helping to extend farm credits. It follows:

Hon. George F. McLean, Chairman Committee on Banking and Currency, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.
My dear Senator: I received your letter of May 11, 1921, requesting the treasury's views with regard to senate bill No. 1711, to create a so-called federal land bank revolving fund in the amount of $50,000,000.

Three puts on the green. The second was halved in four, and in the third Jones drove into the rough, and took two puts to sink his ball, while his opponent handily took the hole in three.

Jones Always Bankered.
Jones' craving for bunkers got him into trouble again on the fourth, which Graham took, three and five, and the fifth was halved, although Graham putted marvelously. The same penchant for bunkers cost Jones the sixth, but he recovered on the seventh and halved the eighth with sixes, after a freakish recovery of a ball which lay flush with a board fence by use of a carom shot.

Graham took the ninth in three, making him four up at the turn. Graham deserved both the tenth and eleventh holes, and got his desert. The twelfth was halved, making dormie 6. Bobby was fooling the easiest three and four-putts on the twelfth and thirteenth, which were halved in four and five, respectively.

It is the putters who have won thus far.

and your further letter of May 11, 1921, making the same request with regard to senate bill No. 1817, to amend section 22, of the federal farm loan act, in connection with the federal farm loan act, and feel with the board that S-1817 is better adapted to accomplish the purpose intended.

Purpose of Bill.
This bill proposes to utilize the existing machinery provided by the federal farm loan act and should make it possible to meet normal increases or other temporary requirements of the federal land banks without setting up a new revolving fund or committee for the government to administer. The treasury and the farm loan board have no objections to the passage of S-1817 and feel that it should be regarded as a substitute for S-1711.

Speaking broadly S-1817 should serve a useful purpose, without at the same time involving the government in any objectionable policy with regard to farm loans. We must all agree that it is not the plan of the farm loan act, and has never been the contemplation of congress, that the government should engage in the farm business enterprise, nor is it contemplated that the government should provide the funds for the operation of the federal farm loan banks. Congress did, however, fix a capitalization of these banks, make their organization mandatory upon the farm loan board, and provide for the subscription of stock by the government.

The farm loan board, in this view, is not a government enterprise, but a business enterprise, and the capital of the banks was wholly inadequate to permit their present operation, and the fact has not as yet been overcome by the government. To meet this defect, the board has endeavored to secure the necessary funds by the operation of the banks, and provide for the subscription of stock by the government.

The assembly adopted a resolution relieving the stewardship committee from any further responsibility for financial support of the pilgrims church in Washington, D. C., voted last year on account of other financial projects to be handled. A committee, however, was appointed to advise the church on its building plans. The assembly also selected a new stewardship committee.

Wright's Confidence.
It is the determined confidence of the thus far invulnerable Wright which battered down through sheer ability two of the most difficult hazards at Hoylake yet thrown against any player—Powness and Ball. He won the only American to reach the sixth round.

Wright matched his ambitious youth against the best of the world on Thursday he meets Darwin, who eliminated the only other American, Paul Hunt, of Los Angeles, during the afternoon.

For just 40 years John Ball has played over the Hoylake course, while Wright has played over it 40 hours, perhaps. Every blade of grass salutes, and every bunker withholds its terrors when the old mariner tacks and beats across the course, so the golfers say.

But the Hoylake secrets failed Ball in his hour of need, and Wright was unbeatable. He sank putt after putt at two, four, six and even eight yards, with the deadly accuracy of torpedoes. He won by sheer ability.

—and again, with the putting game. The Bostonian was as careful, with fifteen-inch putts as with fifteen-foot efforts, and as a result was eight under par on the fifteen holes, while Ball was one under bogey at the end.

GERMANY AND POLAND MAY DIVIDE SILESIA
Paris, May 25.—(By the Associated Press.) The latest settlement of the Upper Silesian controversy, supposedly a British suggestion, is to give Poland and Germany respectively the communes that have voted in their favor at the recent plebiscite, but to divide the entire under control of a special commission for thirty years.

Under the plan the commission would be appointed by the league of nations and at the end of the thirty year period the population of the region would again be given the opportunity to express their wishes. The exchange of views between London and Paris on the question are continuing notwithstanding the debate in the chamber of deputies and the feeling in French official circles this morning was that the allies were coming together.

The control of ambassadors again took hold of the Silesian today and decided to postpone the time in which Germany must complete these modifications to September 1. Germany's request to be allowed to retain her anti-tank rifles was refused.

The prospect of an accord between Great Britain and France over the Silesian situation revived rumors that Premier Briand and Lloyd George would meet in London Sunday and laid down the basis for an agreement. The foreign office, however, gave no assurance to-day that no such meeting took place.

EINSTEIN IS NEAR INJURY IN GREAT CLEVELAND CROWD
Cleveland, Ohio, May 25.—Only the strenuous efforts of a squad of Jewish war veterans who fought in the trenches of France saved Professor Albert Einstein, discoverer of the theory of relativity, from a possible injury today when he was mobbed by a crowd of thousands of people who gathered to see him at the city hall.

Dr. Chalmers Weissman, president of the World Zionist organization, from here today, said that Einstein, who is here today, will be met at the city hall by a delegation of Jewish war veterans who fought in the trenches of France.

Most Jewish merchants closed their stores today, and Einstein and Dr. Weissman, with their wives, were escorted to the city hall by a delegation of Jewish war veterans who fought in the trenches of France.

Einstein was principal speaker at a mass meeting tonight, when the Ohio Zionist league part of a nationwide movement to raise $100,000 for the rehabilitation of Palestine, was opened.

PEACE RESOLUTION TO HOUSE NEXT WEEK
Washington, May 25.—Agreement to the peace resolution to the house for consideration next week was reached today at a conference between the senate and the house foreign affairs committee.

Chairman Porter announced the committee had met and agreed with the expectation of reporting a peace measure immediately.

Committee members said the resolution to be reported would not include repeal of the declaration of war, as provided for in the Knox resolution recently passed by the senate.

PETITION IS GRANTED IN T. G. & A. HEARING
Chattanooga, Tenn., May 25.—When the bankruptcy proceedings involving the Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama road and terminal company were called in the United States district court here today, Receiver Charles Hicks announced that he had received from the government $53,000 to cover losses resulting from federal operation during the war, and Hicks declared that the road was constantly operating at a loss. The court granted the petition.PAPERS ARE SIGNED FOR MRS. SOUTHARD

Man With Imposing Criminal Record Gets Local Pen Term
Mobile, Ala., May 25.—Jack Tannenbaum, of West Orange, N. J., arrested here several weeks ago, while posting as Irving Berlin, New York, the song writer, will be taken to Atlanta in a few days to serve a term in the federal prison for forging a signature to a $50 Liberty bond and attempting to cash the same at a local bank. Tannenbaum pleaded guilty to the charge in the federal court today and in the country to the sentence was fined $1,000.

Tannenbaum received the pronouncement of his sentence without any sign of emotion and shortly thereafter was smilingly assuring the special agent of the department of justice who worked up the government case against him that "there was no hard feelings."

Tannenbaum, of West Orange, N. J., whose name Tannenbaum forged, was present in court.

Judge Robert E. Ervin in fixing the sentence stated that in view of the man's record, as stated by the prosecutor, which extended over a period of several years, he considered it best to place him where he would be under the constant supervision of the penitentiary, which would be a continuation of these practices, which constitute a gross violation of the law.

Tannenbaum admitted the charges of bigamy, testifying he had married four women. Illegal use of the name Tannenbaum from the army, larceny and others.

An enthusiastic attendance marked the session of the Southeastern Photographer's association convention Wednesday in the city auditorium. There were two meetings in the morning and afternoon. In the evening a dinner-dance and cabaret were the outstanding features of the day's occurrences.

A demonstration of home portraiture by flashlight was given in the morning. A question receiving a large share of discussion was commercial photography. It was pointed out that this branch of the art was assuming large proportions in the photographic field.

From 2 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon there was a general meeting of dealers, manufacturers and men representing every branch of the photographic business, at which ideas and opinions were exchanged.

The interest manifested in the exhibit on the ground floor of the auditorium is second to none, and is adjudged one of the most complete expositions of photographic instruments and accessories ever displayed in the city. Many booths have been established for the exhibition of photographic products and supplies, and members of large manufacturers throughout the country are taking advantage of this opportunity to display their wares.

Judges' session will consist of a general business meeting in the morning, business talks by leading photographers, and renewed discussion of the subject of commercial photography.

The capital stock is $18,500. George S. Moore is the present cashier, having about one month ago succeeded B. F. Burnett, who was cashier from the first opening of the bank. L. G. Brown, of Dewey-Ross, is the president.

The bob-o-link was originally called the Bob Lincoln.

Thousands Have Stopped Their Itching with S. S. S.

Many of the fiery, itching skin troubles that afflict humanity are due solely to disorders of the blood stream, and can be remedied only by correcting these irregularities.

Itching affections of this kind should be treated only with medicines that drive from the blood those poisonous impurities that nature should have cast out, but has not. Outside applications may assuage the itch itself for awhile, but they do nothing for that which causes it.

Thousands of skin sufferers have found their nerve-racking troubles ceased after taking S. S. S., the famous old herb remedy, for awhile.

They found the impurities which caused their itching eliminated, and their blood enriched with millions of wholesome, red corpuscles.

If you are afflicted with itching skin troubles, don't suffer the maddening torture longer, but get a bottle of S. S. S. right away from your druggist.

Start taking S. S. S. immediately, and if you would like expert individual medical counsel, write a detailed description of your case to Chief Medical Advisor, 369 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia. He will give it to you free.

WATSON TO SPEAK AT JULY 4 EVENT

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

Washington, May 25.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Senator Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, has agreed to make the principal address at a state-wide Fourth of July celebration to be held at Union City, Ga. This is the only invitation of a junior senator has accepted for summer speech-making, having felt it necessary to decline numerous invitations by reason of the presence of official duties during the session of Congress.

At the Union City celebration there are to be several notable speeches and a government cruise will fly over the city during the day. The speaker of the occasion will be the Hon. E. C. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union, who lives at Union City, and will probably be assigned this occasion. Captain Barrett is stationed at Pearl Island, S. C., and is one of the most expert flyers in the marine air force.

MEMORIAL SERVICE PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Saturday will be "Poppy Day," when citizens of Atlanta will be approached on the streets and asked to buy these silken replicas, made by French orphans, of those grown on Flanders field, the scene where many an American youth made the supreme sacrifice. The day will be a prelude to Sunday, May 29, when exercises will be held at the Howard theater, and Monday, May 30, set aside as the date on which America's participation in the world war will be commemorated.

Numerous teams will conduct the sales, each to have a chairman. Many prominent women of the city have volunteered their services. Foster Barnes, Tribune, General Morrison, Fort McPherson, Tribute, Major Shelly, United States Public Health board. Tribute, Captain George Harrison, "Star-Spangled Banner," Benediction, by Charles E. Barker, of Fort Pershing. Tans, Boy Scout detachment.

Mrs. John M. Cooper, general chairman of the committee on sales, has requested all chairmen of the various committees to meet her Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the art gallery of Goodhart-Tomkins company on Peachtree street to arrange for a definite plan of action for the sales.

RIGHT TO SCRAP ROAD REQUESTED BY THE RECEIVER

The state railroad commission received notice Wednesday that R. B. Pegram, receiver of the Hawkesville-Florida and Southern railroad, running between Hawkesville and Camilla, had filed a petition with the interstate commerce commission for a certificate to have the road scrapped and sold.

On May 2, the Bibb county superior court issued an order to the effect that the railroad could no longer be run without a continued loss and impairment of the assets, and that when the interstate commission issued the certificate a final order for the scrapping of the road would be granted.

HARDING PARTY BACK IN CAPITAL; HAD ROUGH TRIP

Washington, May 25.—President and Mrs. Harding and their party returned to Washington today, the presidential yacht Mayflower reaching her dock at the navy yard at 10:20 a. m. on the return trip from New York. The vessel was delayed by bad weather.

The Mayflower had a rough voyage virtually all the way from New York. It was said, however, that the president and his guests returned in perfect health, although their rest had been disturbed during the night by the rolling of the ship. The yacht docked two hours behind her scheduled time, due to thick weather encountered last night in the run up the bay.

After leaving the Mayflower, the president and Mrs. Harding motored directly to the white house. The executive was given full naval honors as he left the yacht, a nearby battery booming out the 21 guns presidential salute, while a guard of blue-jackets and marines presented arms and the Mayflower's crew manned the rail.

The president had no engagements for the day, but planned to spend most of his time at work on public business and correspond which has accumulated on his desk since he left Washington Saturday.

NO INCREASE SEEN IN LIQUOR TRAFFIC AS FORCE IS CUT

Washington, May 25.—Reports from various sections of the country show no increase in the illegal liquor traffic following the recent cut of 700 in the federal field forces, prohibition officials said tonight. In many instances, they added, liquor cases pending before courts are being continued because of the absence of agents needed as witnesses.

HARDING'S SISTER MADE DEFENDANT IN SUIT FOR LIBEL

Washington, May 25.—Mrs. Carolyn Votaw, sister of President Harding, was made defendant in a $25,000 suit for alleged libel filed today in the District of Columbia supreme court by Dr. G. R. Lee Cole. The plaintiff claims he was damaged in his good name and reputation as a result of a letter written by Mrs. Votaw to Judge Stafford last April 29, during the trial of the domestic difficulties of Dr. Cole and his wife, Minnie B. Cole.

In the letter Mrs. Votaw, who formerly was connected with the woman's bureau of the police department, asked the court to carefully consider the evidence and charged that Mrs. Cole had been terribly wronged by Dr. Cole. Grandall Mackey, counsel for Dr. Cole, called the letter to the attention of President Harding's secretary, Mr. Harding wrote to the lawyer, but the letter was not made public.

New Thought Alliance Convention for 1922 Sought by Atlantans

An invitation signed by the Atlanta convention bureau, the chamber of commerce and other civic bodies has been forwarded to the International New Thought Alliance, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., to hold the 1922 convention in Atlanta. At the congress in Kansas City in 1920 more than 400 delegates were registered coming from every state in the United States, and some from foreign countries.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN GEORGIA COTTON

Washington, May 25.—Cotton men very good to excellent progress in Texas and fair to very good advance in the Mississippi valley, while some improvement was reported in Alabama and Georgia during the week just ended, according to national weather and crop bulletin issued today. The week was mostly warm and dry in the central and western portions of the cotton belt, but was cooler in the eastern portion, with some heavy rainfall in the southeast.

Heavy rains were detrimental in some southeastern districts and growth was slow in the Carolinas on account of cool nights and cloudy weather. Conditions generally were favorable for farmers, but the cultivation and chopping advanced in the southern portion of the belt, while planting and planting made satisfactory progress in the northern and northwest portions, except in the dry areas of Texas and Oklahoma.

Owing to previous unfavorable weather the condition of the crop continues unsatisfactory in much of the belt, with many complaints of poor standing. Weeds are reported from portions of Georgia.

Aviators Killed.

Madrid, May 25.—Two military aviators were killed yesterday when their airplane fell during a flight near Badajoz.

To Alexander Graham Bell will always belong the chief honor of inventing the telephone. Bell's work in itself superseded the efforts of Page, whose research was advanced in 1837; Bourseul in 1854; and Reis about 1860. In 1878 Bell's transmitter was itself superseded by Hunning's "granular carbon transmitter"; since perfected by A. C. White, whose "solid back transmitter" has practically displaced all earlier forms.

Most inventions develop slowly. Here a little detail. There another—and so on, until you can hardly tell when the perfected device finally took shape.

Here in the New Improved Gillette is one of the startling exceptions. At one stroke—micrometric precision, exact to 1/1000 inch, and these three fundamental discoveries, the Fulcrum Shoulder, Overhanging Cap and Channel Guard.

The result of the unequalled Gillette experience and resources, developed by nearly 20 years' service to the shaving needs of every civilized people on the surface of the globe.

Even measured against your old-type Gillette, the New Improved Gillette Safety Razor represents an advance of 75% in shaving comfort and efficiency.

To the man who has never used an old-type Gillette, we say this: Compare the New Improved Gillette with any shaving method or device you know now.

It opens up an entirely new era in shaving—the era of precision, of exact and predictable results.

It is worth any man's money—no matter how attached he may be to his old-fashioned razor or old-type Gillette.

NOTE:—The Gillette Company assumes full responsibility for the service of Gillette Blades when used in any GENUINE Gillette Razor—either old-type or New Improved Gillette. But with IMITATIONS of the genuine Gillette, it cannot take responsibility for service of Blades.

WIFE TAKES HUSBAND'S ADVICE

And Is Made Well Again
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"The doctor told my husband that I had to have an operation, otherwise I would be a sickly woman and could not have any more children on account of my weakened condition. I refused to have the operation. My husband asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For the first four months I could do but little work, had to lie down most of the time, and was very nervous, but my husband was always reminding me to take the Vegetable Compound, which I did. Of my eight children this last one was the easiest birth of all and I am thankful for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend it to my friends when I hear them complaining about their ill health."—Mrs. M. NATALE, 72 Fremont St., Springfield, Mass.

Sickly, ailing women make unhappy homes, and after reading Mrs. Natalie's letter one can imagine how this home was transformed by her restoration to health. Every woman who suffers from such ailments should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It is surely worth while.

Mrs. Norwood Mitchell will entertain at luncheon Thursday at her home on Columbia avenue in honor of Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Teague.

This morning at the Atlanta Woman's club, Mrs. Bun Wylie and Mrs. T. Stevens will be joint hostesses at a benefit cake for the auditorium fund.

Mrs. Robert Lee Walker will entertain at a bridge tea this afternoon, at the Atlanta Woman's club, in compliment to two charming brides, Mrs. Stuart Ernest Colvin and Mrs. James L. Lowry, Jr.

Mrs. C. R. Culpepper will give a matinee party at the Lyric theater, May 27, a bride-elect of June.

A musicale tea will be given by Mrs. R. Z. Chamlee at the Woman's club.

Mrs. Henry Tanner and Mrs. Everett Teague will sponsor a benefit bridge for the Habersham memorial building fund at the Georgian Terrace at 3 o'clock.

Circle No. 3 of Inman Park Baptist church, Mrs. Gilstrap, chairman, will give a silver tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Campers this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The woman's auxiliary of the Georgia Baptist hospital will entertain at a tea at the new nurses home, at East avenue and Boulevard this afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock.

An Anniversary Garden Party

400 New Cotton Dresses Washable, Splendid Savings!

—Money is the modern man's weapon. It is his armor and his sabre. Recently we were in the New York market, armed with money. It was a week of victorious merchandising. Among other trophies are these wash dresses.

—The price comparisons are given below. To be in a position to sell these dresses at these prices now, as the mercury in the thermometer mounts to summer altitudes, is one of the outstanding achievements of the Anniversary.

—They are very lovely. Queen Titania, she of a "Midsummer Night's Dream," might have waved her fairy wand and caused them to be. Their beauty has magic.

$15 and $16.75 Dresses $9.95

—Refreshing as a summer breeze. Of crisp, crisp organdy and dainty dotted Swiss. Pretty? Oh, lovely! With their fluffy ruffles, frilly lace and their meandering embroidery. Have little collars of self material or white organdy. A number of colors to choose from, too.

$10 to $15 Dresses $7.95

—First glance at them is enough to make you want to own one of the adorable things. And you could shut your eyes and pick out a pretty one. Huge crushed sashes, crowds of ruffles and large organdy collars make them what they are. Twenty styles to choose from, we guess. And most any color you want. Organdy, dotted Swiss, printed voile and gingham.

$20 to $25 Dresses $12.95

—Prettiest things imaginable. There's no end to the dainty frills, crushed sashes, ruffles, embroidery and quaint collars and cuffs that lift them 'way out of the ordinary. Crisp, fine organdy, dotted Swisses and silky gingham. Many pretty colors.

150 New Silk Dresses

$25 to $35 Styles

—Here by express yesterday morning.

—35 styles to choose from. Georgette, crepe de chine and taffeta, embroidered and beaded, collarless or with lace, net and georgette collars. Brown, navy, gray, black and copen.

RATES MUST COME DOWN.

Reports from Washington to the effect that leading railway executives are in conference with the interstate commerce commission "with the purpose in view of removing inequalities (in freight rates) and establishing proper relationship" while the interstate commerce committee of the senate is striving toward the same end, are encouraging.

There is no denying the fact that the railroads of the country, almost without exception, are in the midst of an alarming predicament; or that many of them face certain bankruptcy—and some the scrapheap—unless an effective means is devised whereby to relieve the situation.

With freight and passenger tariffs by far the highest in the history of American railroading, the carriers are struggling with the paradoxical fact that they are losing money each month and each day at a rate that cannot long be endured, and that leads inevitably to wholesale receiver-ships if permitted to continue.

It is also apparent—as the railroad executives themselves admit—that the relief must come through a reduction of operating cost rather than from any further increase in rates for service.

For that matter, it is plain to be seen that any effective remedy of the situation must provide for a curtailment of the costs of operation to an extent that will permit a material reduction in rates of service—in other words, it must call for a policy that will increase the volume of business, rather than the gross receipts from the amount of business done—for the reason that, as the Commerce (Ga.) News said in a recent editorial, "the rates have been increased time and again until they have become prohibitive."

Our Commerce contemporary goes on to say that—

"The freight on some commodities is so high that the price received for the product will not pay the freight. The freight on a car of coal amounts to more than the cost of the coal at the mines. Good coal can be bought at the mines for less than three dollars while the freight from the mines is more than four dollars. The freight on a car of peaches from Commerce to New York amounts to $350, leaving the producer practically no profit on his product."

"The freight on certain commodities from Commerce to Atlanta amounts to more than the price received for the goods, thus making shipments absolutely prohibitive. In effect the railroads are cutting their own throats."

"The railroads have, from time to time convinced the commissions that a reduction in freight would mean disaster to the roads, and we are not in position to deny this state of affairs. We do know, however, that there must be a leak somewhere which must be located and remedied, for the people can no longer endure such excessive rates."

There is grave danger, not only to the country, but to the railroads themselves, in the situation as it is.

The consuming public cannot afford to pay enough for what it consumes to allow reasonable net returns to the carriers for hauling it; and the producers cannot afford to continue production if what should be their reasonable profit is absorbed in transportation charges.

As our Washington correspondent points out, there is already apparent a disquieting diversion of freight to water and highway transportation routes from sources of production to points of consumption.

But with all that can be done in that direction, the railroads are, and will continue to be, a necessity to the prosperity and happiness of the country.

Rates, both freight and passenger, must come down! They must come down to levels that will encourage the use of the railroads instead of driving business from them; and that will increase their business in volume.

Concurrently, wages and other costs of operating must be brought down to a point permitting the carriers to do business on the basis of fair and reasonable returns on capital invested.

If the railroad executives and the instrumentalities of the government succeed in working out a solution of this problem on that basis they will have rendered a service to every man, woman and child in the country.

Among many domestic blessings, don't overlook the market basket that never has to leave the home-garden gate.

Germany is now at the place where it is impossible for her to make a scrap of paper of a promise to pay.

They say that when they temporarily lift the prohibition in Chicago little more than the usual h— breaks loose there.

If some of them wait until they have answered the Einstein riddle, they'll never go to work for a living.

WOMEN WORKERS ASKED FOR DRIVE

Women volunteers, as many as respond, are badly needed for a few hours work in behalf of the Salvation Army on Friday.

They are asked to meet at Salvation Army headquarters, 41 Luckie street, at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, chairman of the women's division, will then assign them to brief and simple duties that are vitally important to the success of the Salvationists' appeal for funds.

Mrs. Lumpkin expresses the hope that a large number of the women who lent such cheerful and valuable assistance on "Dollar Day" will again come to the rescue of the fund. Their tasks in the present instance will require nothing like the same amount of time and energy as was the case last Tuesday, yet its bearing on the Salvation Army's welfare this year is just as decisive.

The feminine aiders are urgently needed to make a number of specific calls where it is known that substantial contributions to the budget are forthcoming. Unless the necessary man-power, or "woman-power" is realized, however, these contributions will be of little avail.

"We cannot stress too strongly the emergency we are facing," said Mrs. Lumpkin Wednesday night. "The need is so great that the sympathy and co-operation, which we present at the 9 o'clock meeting Friday morning, will be of the greatest value. The level that the Salvation Army will be crippled in its fight against misery and suffering. The help we ask will save the day."

SENATE APPROVAL GIVEN MOVE TO CUT

mediate passage of the bill was a hazy prospect. Administration leaders expressed hopes that it would be adopted late Thursday or Friday, but there was a possibility of delay until next week.

Other amendments adopted among minor amendments adopted was the committee provision for creation in the navy department of a special bureau of aerostatics, with a head selected by the president.

Reinstatement in the naval academy at Annapolis of 100 midshipmen who "dunked" and were forced to resign last January was the object of an amendment introduced by Senator McKellar, democrat, of Tennessee. It went over for further consideration. Senator McKellar and others contended that the midshipmen had not been fairly dealt with in re-examination. His amendment proposed that they be reinstated and placed in a grade a year behind their class.

Further negotiations were held today between senators on amendments recently debated to establish a new naval supply base at Alameda, Cal., and for continuing work on Charleston, S. C., projects. Little headway toward an agreement on the Alameda project was reported, but advocates of the Charleston work claimed to have assurances that before a vote the Charleston items probably would be reinstated.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE INDORSERS REDUCTION

Washington, May 25.—The principle of reduction of armaments was endorsed and assurance given of the active co-operation of women to secure the world's future peace and happiness by international agreement to this principle, in a resolution adopted today at a meeting of the headquarters of the national League of Women Voters. The resolution was presented by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, of Boston.

PRESBYTERIANS FAVOR CUT IN ARMAMENTS

Winona Lake, Ind., May 25.—Calling of a conference of the nations for the purpose of securing progressive disarmament was urged upon President Harding today by the one hundred and thirty-third assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. The assembly passed a resolution appealing for the conference following its presentation by William J. Bryan, who is commissioner to the assembly from the Presbytery of Florida.

Rail Shops to Close

St. Paul, May 25.—Headquarters of the Great Northern railway here today announced that every shop on its system, except two, will be closed from May 27 to July 5. More than 3,000 men will be affected. Light traffic was given as the reason for the shut-down.

Industrial Expert Awakens New Vision For Atlanta's Future

Business Leaders and Captains of Industry Enthralled as Expert Unfolds the Possibilities of Section.

As Atlanta business leaders and captains of industry sat astounded for nearly two hours Wednesday afternoon, George C. Smith, director-general of the Industries Department of the Baltimore Board of Trade unfolded a story of industrial expansion and future progress of production south of the Mason and Dixon line that awakened a new vision of the possibilities of this section within the next half century, and amazed his hearers.

Beginning his narrative with a review of the history and achievements of the department of which he is the head he furnished those present with facts and figures he showed to be incontrovertible that the same things that have been accomplished in Baltimore within the last two years in obtaining new industries can be done in Atlanta. He ended his story with an exposition of what the development of synthetic chemistry means to the south in the utilization of the cotton stalk declaring that in the future this industry alone would exceed the present steel, iron and rubber business of the country combined.

Mr. Smith spoke before a meeting of about two hundred Atlanta men. He was invited here jointly by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta Advertising club and the Citizens club and spoke at a joint luncheon of these bodies held on the Ansley roof with Lee Ashcraft, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding.

Briefly Mr. Smith presented figures showing actual results of the Industries department of the Baltimore Board of Trade. He said in 23 months his department has brought about the construction of 400 new industries in Baltimore. These industries have an actual investment in the aggregate of $95,000,000 and provide employment for 52,000 workers. He said the census showed that Atlanta has 400 industries employing 12,000 workers and told his hearers they could obtain an idea of the magnitude of the progress of his department by comparing these figures.

Atlanta Can Emulate Baltimore.

In his speech he pointed out how Atlanta can emulate Baltimore, told why Baltimore wants Atlanta to take the same action, listed the class of industries that should be developed in Atlanta and which should be asked to come here; furnished information showing how industry in New England is breaking down for reasons which he explained and urged Atlanta to join hands with Baltimore in breaking down prejudices existing in New England against industrial development south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Mr. Smith was introduced by President Ashcraft, of the Chamber of Commerce, who said the meeting was one which should bear fruit for Atlanta. He gave credit to James L. Logan, chairman Industrial Promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce, for working out the movement which brought the speaker to Atlanta. Two of the advantages Atlanta possesses over New England coast cities, the speaker said, were: first, her close proximity to present raw materials and to the cotton industry which he predicted would be the greatest single industry in the country with the development of synthetic chemistry and, second, her position as a city with pure American labor composed of Americans who are home owners.

"Just one example of what the synthetic chemistry or chemistry of reproduction means," Mr. Smith said. "They are now able, through this method, to make artificial silk out of a wood pulp. This silk looks better than the silk from the silk worm, wears better, is water-proof and is ten times as cheap. Even a poorly made necktie of this material will wear so long that you'll get tired of it and throw it away. They are now working on plans for the utilization of the cotton stalk in this work and when the method is perfected the synthetic chemistry development in connection with the cotton stalk alone will be a greater industry than the iron, steel and rubber industry combined. And Atlanta is in the very heart of the cotton industry."

Little Foreign Labor.
Speaking of Atlanta's advantages as an industrial city, Mr. Smith said the crowded industrial centers of New York and New England are crowded with foreign labor. "The capitalists of New England, the shrewdest in the world, are going to be forced to seek factory sites in typical American cities. Atlanta and Baltimore are such cities while the congested centers of the New England cities are not," he declared.

Referring, on a question, to the open shop conditions, Mr. Smith said Baltimore is a union town. He declined to discuss the open shop situation or the printers' strike below the regional level, saying they were national questions. "I will say this, however, he continued, the printer's union in Baltimore is nationally organized 95 per cent. In Baltimore at the present time the printing industry, despite the strike being operated on an 85 per cent production basis. This is because the printers of Baltimore are home builders. Whenever a man makes a first payment on a home he takes off his red necktie."

Smith then outlined in detail the plan adopted in Baltimore to obtain new industries and said such a plan could work in Atlanta.

"Our industries department of the board of trade consists of 21 men. One of these men is charged with a different field. For instance, one man represents the public utility industry and city council furnish one man, the trade organizations such as the chamber of commerce, the Builders exchange and the Advertising club and others furnish one man each. This is the only way in which a city can build up an organization which entirely has eliminated jealousies and has united more local interests and factions in the common purpose of obtaining new industries for the city of Baltimore."

Mr. Smith said his department gives no bonuses to new industries, exempts them only from taxation for a period of years and simply gives the heads of the industries they seek practical information more of local conditions and the other cities competing for the same industry.

"We make no distinction between an industry in another city and an industry in our own city that wants to build an additional factory. We provide them both with the same service and we obtained in the last 23 months the construction of more than 100 factories brought from other cities and 230 factories built by expanding local companies, making a total of 400 in all."

The speaker said his department goes after only industries that will thrive in Baltimore. "We don't want to bring an industry to Baltimore," he said, "and have it close down soon after." "We don't go after plants economically unsuited for our city. We want only those that can be operated there successfully. These are the last to go down in time of depression and first to come up in times of revival."

Mr. Smith said his department obtained its "heads" in several ways. "First, from local investors; second, from sales managers and local representatives, who are unable to get shipments from their factories because of capacity production; third, from observing trade tendencies, both national and international, and the conditions surrounding them. For instance, when sugar was 25 cents a pound, we realized there was a shortage of sugar refineries somewhere. With out going into the whole story, they are now completing in Baltimore the largest sugar refinery in the world at a cost of $10,000,000, which was the result of observation of the sugar industry; fourth, observing labor troubles in other cities."

Mr. Smith indicated that it was not desirable to take just any industry because of labor troubles, however. "Sometimes the industry is to blame, and we don't want that kind of neighbor."

Obtained Big Plant.

He then told of how his department heard of a strike in the plant of a phonograph plant at Bridgeport; how his department convinced the heads of the company that foreign labor was the cause of their troubles and how he brought the plant, the first to cost $10,000,000, to Baltimore, an American city, operated by American workmen recruited in the main, from south of the Mason and Dixon line.

He said his department worked with only a small force of trained specialists. Funds to maintain it were raised by each of the 21 members contributing $125 a year, and other funds needed raised from the 21 groups represented, mostly by assessment.

"The city government of Baltimore contributed $17,000 last year to the work and received back from new industries brought to our city taxes amounting to $208,000," he said, and the guests applauded.

Mr. Smith went into complete details of the organization of the Baltimore plant. He said Atlanta has a great advantage in the possession of the Georgia School of Technology, saying this institution would play an important part in the synthetic chemistry development.

He outlined, also, a theory that the south's climate is really more adapted for full production than that of the north, and said this idea should be worked out.

After speaking nearly two hours he replied to a large number of questions, giving quick and accurate replies. Every man remained in his seat throughout the speech, and officials of the three organizations declared it was the most important speech made in Atlanta in a decade.

H. F. WHITMIRE DIES SUDDENLY WEDNESDAY

H. F. Whitmire, a well-known Atlantian, died suddenly, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Whitmire was stricken while in the yard at the rear of his home, 67 Inman circle, during the morning, and only lived a short time after being removed to the hospital.

He was 42 years of age and is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Virginia; mother, Mrs. J. M. Whitmire; sister, Mrs. W. M. Brown, of Waltham, S. C. and two brothers, W. Z. Whitmire, of Greenville, S. C. The body was removed to the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son and the funeral will take place at the residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. Sprule Lyons will officiate. Interment will be in West View.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—(adv.)

"Buried Treasure."

(At the Forsyth.)

The theory of reincarnation which has been discussed time and again, forms the basis of the theme of "Buried Treasure," a picture featuring Marion Davies, which will be the feature at the Forsyth theater for three days starting today. The story is by F. Britten Austen. Miss Davies was never more charming than as the Spanish beauty, who in the entire production is exceptionally well handled. Her support is given by Norman Kerry in excellent.

"What Every Woman Knows"

(Coming to Rialto.)

In the new William DeMille Paramount production, "What Every Woman Knows," which will be shown at the Rialto theater next week, Conrad Nagel, one of the most prominent leading men on the screen, plays the same part which was portrayed on the stage by Bruce McRae. The role is that of a young English student and political aspirant.

"The Faith Healer."

(At the Rialto.)

"The Faith Healer," a George Melford production for Paramount, at the Rialto this week, is one of the most promising of the younger screen actresses, has leaped into popularity over night, through her splendid portrayal of Grizel in Sir James M. Barrie's charming story, "Sentimental Tommy," being shown at the Howard all this week. Particularly remarkable is the fact that Miss McAvoy never appeared on the stage before she went on the screen. Beautiful and talented she

"Peck's Bad Boy."

(At the Criterion.)

Little Jackie Coogan, starring in "Peck's Bad Boy," at the Criterion theater, comes by his histrionic abilities honestly. His mother, who is an old-time theatrical artist, has given him their child every ounce of teaching they possess. Today Jackie Coogan is conceded to be the most brilliant child actor on the screen. And with it all, the world cannot spoil him for Jackie is just plain, honest-to-goodness American boy.

GIFTED SINGER IS CHARMING FEATURE ON HOWARD BILL

Much comment has been aroused over the appearance of an "unknown singer" at the Howard theater this week during the charming feature which precedes the presentation of Sir James Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy." The singer, who is in quiet and becoming costume, delights everyone with her rendition of Scotch ballads, is not named on the program.

WHAT ARE KRYPTOK BIFOCALS?

They are a combination of glass, allowing you to see both near and far with one solid glass. No removing your reading glass to see distant objects; no seams, lines or blisters to worry you or attract attention of others to your age. Absolutely invisible while on the face, they have proven a revelation to thousands who have come to us for them. Why are we successful with Kryptoks? Because we are extremely careful in the examination of your eyes, the correct grinding of the glass, and perfect adjustment of frames to each individual face, all of which is absolutely necessary to insure comfort and appearance. If you have Kryptoks bought elsewhere and cannot use them, bring them to us and we will find the trouble. Ask the better oculists or any of our patients what the Ballard service is to the public.

HAYS DECLARES FOR FREE PRESS

BY RALPH H. TURNER,

United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 25.—Postmaster General Will Hays, in extending second-class mailing privileges to the Liberator, a so-called radical publication, has defined the administration's policy toward freedom of the press.

By his action Tuesday in granting The Liberator's application, and through comment on his decision, Hays emphasized these points:

1. Publications should be entirely suppressed and their publishers prosecuted or they should be given equal mailing rights in common with other periodicals.

2. Arbitrary power to decide what form of printed matter is or is not of "public interest" has never intended to be lodged in the postmaster general and it shall not be assumed in the manner prescribed by law.

3. If any publication harbors a conspiracy to destroy the government by force, then the department of justice will deal with the conspirators in the manner prescribed by law.

The Liberator's application has been on file since the magazine was established on February 11, 1918, as a successor to The Masses. The past administration took no action on the request, but accepted every issue of the publication for mailing at third-class postage rates. Hays' action in admitting The Liberator to second-class mailing privileges was accompanied by a refund to the paper of $11,227, the difference between the sum paid in third-class postage and the amount the paper would have paid under the second-class privilege.

Pointing out that The Liberator's case rested solely on whether it constituted a national matter, Hays added that not only had the magazine been accepted during the war, but that there was less reason now for barring it, because temporary war provisions had been repealed.

"The war is over," said Hays in enunciating a broad policy. "We must return to the ordered freedom of the press, which is the basis of the public welfare, while at the same time maintaining freedom of the press, has been found through a long period of stable civil liberty better for the public welfare and personal security of citizens than the establishment of a bureaucratic censorship which in its nature becomes a matter of individual opinion, prejudice or caprice."

Hays intimated that second-class privileges would also be accorded to The New York Call and The Milwaukee Leader, Victor Berger's paper, which have applied for readmission after their exclusion during the war. Their cases would be considered, he said, on the basis of the principles which guided him in The Liberator's case.

SHANTUNG RECESSION ACTION IS PREDICTED

Washington, May 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—According to official information received here Japan is planning to take steps to compel China to begin negotiations for the recession of Shantung under the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

Japan's program, according to this information, is to begin withdrawing the large forces of troops which have been guarding the railroads from Tsinan-Fu to Kiaochow, without waiting for China to comply with the original suggestion that they be replaced by Chinese soldiers. The Japanese belief is that with Japanese troops withdrawn China will be forced to send her own troops into the area where it is said lawless bands have been operating with frequency.

MAN AND WOMAN

HE KILLED TO BE

BURIED TOGETHER

The bodies of James L. Wadsworth and his wife, whom he slew before taking his own life Monday night at their residence, 407 Cortland street, will be buried together today at Hartsville, S. C., the home of his father.

After the burial the relatives of the husband and wife will decide who shall care for little John William, the 14-month-old baby they left. In a coroner's inquest nothing was developed to show Wadsworth's motive, the verdict being that he killed his wife and then himself. Relatives could offer no explanation.

DEAFMUTE DIES

AFTER BEING HIT

BY CENTRAL TRAIN

Columbus, Ga., May 25.—(Special.) Ernest Hall, a deaf-mute, was struck by a Central of Georgia railway passenger train in Columbus today. He sustained injuries from which he died in a few hours. He was walking along the track and presumably did not hear the train, which came from around a curve. The young man was in the employ of one of the local theaters. His mother and two sisters survive him.
